Police Protection for Halloween Cost $136; Board to Buy Truck

Petition for Taxi Stand Filed by Winnetka Cab Operator

Protection from Halloween pranks has become in recent years an expensive item for the village and this year was no exception.

The village board Tuesday evening paid a bill of $136.15 for extra police and their expenses to patrol the village. Eleven men, members of the Rescue squad worked Monday night and two of the men Sunday night at a payment of $10 each for their all night vigil. The $6.15 was for food for the watchers.

Beyond the payment of bills there wasn't much up for consideration by the board.

While on the subject of Halloween costs Trustee C. A. Wolfenbarger inquired as to what had become of the proposal to establish a curfew. He as well as Mayor Merrill Cunningham noted the fact that some grade school boys had ganged up on a local house construction worker he remonstrated at their destruction of his masonry. A woman was badly frightened as was her husband when the boys demanded "hands up" in the use of dummy pistols when the couple went to the door on what they thought was a tricks or treat visit.

No action on a curfew law was taken, however.

The board voted to advertise for bids on a new two-ton truck to be opened at the December meeting. The new truck will replace the 1939 truck now used.

Thomas Merrill, operator of a taxicab in Winnetka appeared before the board asking for a permit to operate a cab in Antioch. He said he is moving to Center Lake, Wis., and wants to establish his business nearer home.

Fred Pierce operates the only taxicab stand now having taken over the permit of a rival cab operator several months ago.

The board told the petitioner they would investigate the ordinance on taxicabs and let him know at the next meeting.

Two street lights will be placed in the Barney Naber subdivision and one at St. Peter's church in lighting up the area in the west part of the village.

Mrs. Tyler Gilbert, 89, Dies at Millburn and Funeral Held Tuesday

Mrs. Mina Bonner Gilbert, aged 89, a life long resident of Lake county died Saturday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Horace Culver with whom she had lived for about a year. She had been ill several months.

After her husband died in 1908 Mrs. Gilbert moved from the Gilbert farm at Round Lake to live with her twin brother, William Bonner, on the family homestead at Millburn.

Since 1922 she and her daughter Margaret have lived in Waukegan. Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Horace Culver, Millburn; Miss Margaret Gilbert, Waukegan; a granddaughter, Mrs. Chalmers Woolley and a great grandson, John Woolley, all of Millburn.

Gresengine Corp. Ups Capital $100,000 to Expand Its Business

Expansion of the Gresengine Corp., which started last year in the Antioch garage building is seen in a re-capitalization from $25,000 to $125,000 as voted by the stockholders and directors this week.

Under the new set-up the corporation will have $112,500 of preferred stock and $12,500 of common stock. The additional $100,000 capitalization will be in preferred stock with only about $25,000 offered to the public in small blocks.

Edward Gresens, president, and William Dusek, vice president, inventors and promoters of the portable gasoline engine manufactured by the company, hold the controlling interest. Other directors are Edmund Vos, William Schroeder and Harold Nelson. Nelson is treasurer, and Alphonso Dweilley is secretary.

After a year's test of 100 machines the corporation is satisfied it has a product that will meet public approval. Some changes will be made, however, and this is seen in the order of parts for 500 more engines to be marketed yet this year.

The gasoline engine is one that can be moved from one power driven article to another merely by easy attachment to inexpensive bases on each article. The company is concentrating on the use of the engines for boats, lawn mowers and bicycles, and will even manufacture the frame for a scooter on which the engine will be used.

Dusek said that the engine is finding ready sale and that the company expects within the next year to see rapid production. He said the factory has been assured a good supply of steel and aluminum.

Stratton Announces Candidacy for State Treasurer in Primary

William G. Stratton, 35, of Morris today opened his campaign to win the Republican nomination for state treasurer of Illinois next April.

Stratton announced his candidacy to neighbors and friends assembled in the living room of his home in Morris.

In his announcement Stratton said he was proud of the record he had made as a member of Congress and as state treasurer. He said that his record has constantly improved to the point where he had won recognition and endorsement from leading organizations and publications throughout the state and nation for the promise his future public career held.

Mr. Stratton indicated he planned intensive campaign and would perfect his campaign organization before the first of the year.

Stratton was born in Ingleside, Lake County, the son of Illinois late secretary of state, William J. Stratton. He is a graduate of the University of Arizona where he specialized in government and economics.

Elected congressman-at-large in 1940 at the age of 26, he was elected Illinois state treasurer in 1942. While in service overseas, he was nominated for a second time to Congress from the state at large and was elected and served until that office was abolished by the reapportionment act.

Stratton is a member of the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. He has two daughters, Sandra 13 and Diana 10.

Mr. J. Edwin Porter, associate rent director, announced today that due to the extremely heavy receipt of landlords' petitions and tenants' application for adjustments in rents, the Housing Expediter has found it necessary to close the Waukegan area rent office, located at 325 Washington St., to the public on Tuesday and Thursday morning, from 9 to 12 each week until further notice.

The Waukegan rent office will be open to the public each Tuesday and Thursday afternoon between the hours of 12 noon and 4 p. m., and, as before, all day Monday, Wednesday and Friday between the hours of 9 a. m. and 4 p. m.

Conservation School Closed for Winter

Director Leonard Schwartz, of the Illinois Department of Conservation, this week closed the Conservation school on route 59, at Fox Lake, as an economy measure. The school will operate only as a headquarters and clearing house for telephone calls regarding game violations for the winter months. Schwartz, who is pledged to economy in the administration of the department, has stopped use of the school for purpose other than training in conservation work, and since this type of activity is at a standstill, so far as field work is concerned, has closed the school until classes can be resumed in the spring.

Jim McMillen to Be Candidate for Village President

Petition in Circulation To Place Business Man On Ballot

Jim McMillen will be a candidate for President of the village board of trustees.

A petition seeking to place his name on the ballot at the special election was taken out Wednesday, Clerk L. D. Powles said.

McMillen agreed to toss his hat in the ring after a number of prominent men prevailed upon him to do so.

They cited as his strength as a candidate the fact that he is highly respected as an executive and a business man. McMillen is at present chief of the Antioch fire department which he has served for many years.

During the last war he served as a navy commander in charge of recreation in foreign lands. Since the war he has been engaged in the cement block business in Antioch.

As a diversion McMillen has been quite successful as a professional wrestler and he is known in that sport throughout the United States. He also has an interest in professional football.

McMillen, a resident of Parkway, is the third to take out a petition for a place on the ballot. Murrill Cunningham, acting president of the board already has filed and Charles Cermak has a petition in circulation.

Antioch Banks to Close Wednesdays After December 7

Both the First National Bank of Antioch and the State Bank of Antioch will be closed all day on Wednesday of each week, on and after Wed., December 7. The banks have closed on Wednesday afternoons for many years, and this change will not, it is believed, result in much, if any inconvenience for the customers of the banks, since Wednesday is a poor shopping day, with a number of the Antioch business places closed in the afternoon. The change is in conformity with new state banking laws which no longer call for a six-day week at banks.

What is the Motive?

The American Medical Association, along with 16 state and county medical societies, is a target for investigation by the Antitrust Division of the Justice Department. And that has stirred up some very interesting editorial comment in the nation's newspapers.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer observed, "The FBI may find evidence that the medical association has been violating the antitrust laws because it restricts its membership to those who conform to certain standards and who have passed examinations conducted by state boards. If so, then the FBI might also find that bar associations, dental societies, professional engineers, barbers, cosmetologists and all other organizations whose members are licensed by the states also were in violation of the antitrust laws."

The Columbus Evening Dispatch said, "The AMA has vigorously opposed President Truman's state medicine proposal. Therefore, the doctors are to be put on the spot, smeared in the eyes of the public and harried by government minions."

The Los Angeles Times remarked, "It may occur to the general public that if the American Federation of Labor, which openly proposes to raise a large campaign fund to defeat certain members of Congress... is not investigated, then the AMA, which has sought to raise a much smaller campaign fund to protect itself from what it considers an assault on medical standards, ought not to be investigated either."

The press seems to be watching this investigation closely, in an effort to learn what motives and purposes lie behind it. The public should do the same thing.

More Pork Goes to Market

There are times when just sending goods to market and letting them sell or not sell as the case may be isn't enough. Such a time arises when the supply of some commodity is far greater than usual.

Pork is approaching that position now. Government reports anticipate at least a 15 per cent increase in hog marketings during the next 12 months as compared with a year earlier. The supply of pork during the last quarter of this year will be about 45 per cent greater than in the third quarter, and 12 per cent greater than during the last quarter of 1948. On top of that, it is indicated that total demand for meat this year will not be as strong as last.

To help meet this situation, an organization* which represents many of the packers of the nation has completed plans for an aggressive program to promote the sale of pork products during the fall and winter months. Details of the program were developed with the assistance of hog producers, leaders of farm organizations, college livestock extension specialists, and other interested people, all of whom have pledged their support. Millions of consumers will see posters and advertisements emphasizing the value of pork. The whole purpose is to move promptly onto America's dining tables the largest pork supply of recent years.

The value of this to farmers and other pork producers is obvious. And the consumer's interest is also paramount—much of the promotional material will stress ways and means of getting top return for the family's meat dollar. Everyone will benefit.

The Low Down From Hickory Grove

This old saying that the proof of a pudding is judged by nibbling, is still up to snuff. If you are skeptical, take a squint at that Great Northwest, that land that Mr. William Cullen Bryant described as "where rolls the Oregon." And without detouring too far, if you don't read Mr. Bryant's Thanatopsis too frequent-like, haul it out—it could calm and sober your outlook.

But pudding—that is the subject. The 4 states of the Great Northwest have nibbled on the rosy bait held out by the Govt. ownership boys. And sisters and brothers, they are now ready to repent and be saved—they have seen the errors of their ways. They now see their rights as citizens vanishing up salt creek—they see electricity rationing coming up the front walk. The Govt. Boys over at the powerhouse are telling the citizens to stand aside—the Govt. will say who is to have lights and who won't. Socialism has taken over in that grand land of open spaces.

Yours with the low down,

Water and Fire

Water causes burning grease, fats and oils to spatter violently and thus spreads the flame. Water is not effective on fires involving electrical equipment and short circuits until after the circuit is cut off. In such cases the fire extinguisher is the logical answer.

Illumination

Too Little, Too Short

NEW YORK. — An air force B-17 appeared over Manhattan in an experimental photographic flight and dropped several scores of cartridges that made brief flashes in the sky.

The air force reported before the experiment started that a series of brilliant flashes would ring the skies, but the lights were a big disappointment to the spectators. They were low and of brief duration.

The flight was made to test a new night illuminating device developed by the air force. The flashes, it was reported, were to give light estimated at 50 million candlepower, while camera men in the plane took pictures.

From the roof tops of Manhattan it appeared as if a red ball dropped from the plane, followed shortly by the brief flash and several seconds later by a not too loud explosion.

Machine Discloses Uncanny Faculties In Checking Plugs

FOSTORIA, OHIO.—Even employees who see it every day stop to watch a fascinating little machine in the Auto-Lite spark plug factory here.

With an uncanny ability that seems like magic, the machine whirrs around endless numbers of seemingly identical spark plugs and unerringly and selectively rejects any that are not up to standard.

When production of the new resistor spark plug began, new testing as well as new production techniques were required.

One of the distinctive features of the resistor as compared with standard spark plug previously produced here is a built-in 10,000-ohm resistor. (An ohm is a measurement of electricity.) It is necessary to test each of the millions of plugs produced to be sure resistance is really right, not too high and not too low. Several methods have been employed, but it wasn't until engineering genius produced this little electronic machine that testing was put on a high-speed, mass production basis.

The plugs to be tested are placed in recesses on one turntable. As this revolves, finger-like clamps on another turntable snatch off the plugs one by one and start them on another circular trip. Before a single revolution has been completed, the plug is tested and flipped off into one of three bins—one for plugs that test low, another for those that test high and the final one for those which test right. Those that don't conform are returned for correction.

The machine has something of the same fascination of a pinball machine or juke box. The rejects come so rarely that it is difficult to resist stopping to wait for the "odd" one to come up.

And just about the time the on-looker has decided the machine must be out of order and is passing all the plugs, one is finally flipped off into an "out" bin.

Uranium Ore In Mexico Doesn't Worry U.S. Chiefs

WASHINGTON.—Brien McMahon, chairman of the joint congressional atomic energy committee has said he finds nothing alarming in reports that 220 grams of uranium turned up in Mexico City.

The Connecticut Democrat said a preliminary FBI investigation indicated the find consisted of raw uranium, rather than the ultra-refined uranium that is used to make U-235, the atomic bomb ingredient.

But McMahon said he intends to wait for a more detailed FBI report before considering the case closed.

Mexico City dispatches said the uranium was found in the possession of a Mexican detained on a routine matter by police last January. They said the 220 grams were enclosed in a tiny cylinder about two and one-half inches long and an inch in diameter.

Subsequent scientific tests showed the cylinder's contents to be of a type not obtainable in Mexico. This led Mexican authorities to believe that the uranium was stolen from some U.S. atomic laboratory.

Former Congressman Wins "Pound of Flesh" Battle

Detroit. — Former Congressman Harold Youngblood was the winner in a court suit involving one and one-half ounces of fat.

Youngblood told ordinance referee Oscar Ripapelle that he bought 17½ ounces of steak at a store.

He said that when he weighed the steak at home it came to only 16 ounces. The former lawmaker contended this constituted an overcharge of seven cents.

A store official held out a piece of fat toward the referee and explained it had fallen off the steak when the package was wrapped.

However, Ripapelle ruled that Youngblood's "beef" was the legitimate one and fined the store $50.

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

MAX SANDERS' home had been robbed of jewels valued at $50,000. The jewels were kept in a wall safe behind a picture in Max's study, which was located on the second floor of his Beverly Hills home.

Inspector Ray Beatty was assigned to the case. Leo MacDougal, a police officer, who had been summoned from his beat, showed Inspector Beatty the evidence that had thus far been discovered.

First there was a ladder placed against a window that opened into a second floor hall. This window had been discovered open.

Inspector Beatty told MacDougal to summon all the servants. Then he questioned them. They all had good excuses. Sid Furbush, a secretary, had spent the night at the movies with a friend. Edwards, the butler, had read in his room until Mr. and Mrs. Sanders returned from a party, when he admitted them.

It was right after that, that Mrs. Sanders went to the safe to replace the jewels she had worn, and found the others gone.

Martha Greene, the housekeeper, had been in her room all evening. Her room was located on the second floor. She had gone down to the kitchen about 10 o'clock for a bite to eat and found Viola Matson, the maid, there with her boy friend. Returning, Martha had passed Edward's room and seen Edwards sitting by his table, reading. INSPECTOR BEATTY dismissed the servants and went back to the study. He examined every inch of it. Then he went into the hall and examined that. He also examined the window and the ladder and the ground below the window. It had rained a little the night before and he found some footprints beside the ladder. They looked like men's footprints.

"The robbery was committed before you placed the ladder there."

Inspector Beatty sought out Sid Furbush. He asked the secretary if Max Sanders held business conferences in his study. Furbush said that he did.

"The chances are, then, that he's had occasion to open the safe when others were present?"

"It's quite likely."

"I want as complete a list as you can make me of all the people you've known to be in the study during the past month."

Inspector Beatty left Sid Furbush making out the list, summoned MacDougal and went down the hall. He entered one door after the next, first knocking to make sure the room was empty. Presently he returned to the hall, bearing a pair of shoes.

Carrying the shoes he returned to the study and asked Furbush if they were his shoes.

"Why, yes," said Furbush. "Why? Where did you get them?"

"Out of your closet. I searched the closets of all the servants till I found a pair of shoes with some mud on the soles. It was you who committed the robbery."

"You're crazy. That's a cockeyed theory. The robber came up the ladder."

"No," said Inspector Beatty, "that's only what you expected us to believe. That's why you put the ladder there and left the window open. The robbery was committed before you placed the ladder there."

"How do you know that? You can't prove it."

"I won't have to. What I can prove is that no one came up the ladder. It rained last night. There was mud. There's mud on your shoes. The shoes fit the footprints at the foot of the ladder. Yet there is no mud at all on the rungs of the ladder. If there had been I would have probably been fooled and not been sure that some one inside committed the theft. Besides you had the best alibi. I checked with the man with whom you said you attended the movie. He broke down and confessed everything."

MacDougal was amazed. Afterwards he said to Beatty: "I didn't know you checked with Furbush's friend. When did that happen?"

"It didn't," said Beatty.

Employees Advised to Check Social Security Accounts for Accuracy

Bernard Barnett, manager of the Waukegan Social Security office, states that his office records covering the past several years reveals only a small fraction of one percent of workers served by his office ever check their accounts.

Each calendar quarter, every employer whose business is covered by the Social Security Act is required by law to report to the Government the total wages earned by each employee. The benefits paid to workers when they retire and to survivors when the wage earner dies are proportionate to the wages reported since 1936. If these wages are not reported, or are not reported in full, future benefits may be reduced or impossible of payment. To prevent this, the law permits each worker to check his account every four years. After four years, according to law, correction of errors may not ordinarily be made. Consequently, some workers and their families may find when too late that errors or inaccurate reports have impaired their benefits.

Ordinarily, Mr. Barnett said, if a worker has been working for years for an established employer who has an adequate bookkeeping system, the worker need not be too concerned about checking up. However, workers who have changed employers frequently or who have worked for employers who do not emphasize accurate records, should ask the nearest social security office at least once every four years for statements of their accounts. If an account is not right the worker should then ask the social security office to assist in getting it rectified. A social security representative will then contact the employers and seek any other evidence needed to correct the account.

There is one other disturbing aspect to the question, says Mr. Barnett. Workers do not use sufficient care in preserving proofs of wages earned. The law requires that the employer periodically furnish employees with statements of their wages. Too many wage earners throw away or misplace these statements. Then, if they find their accounts in error, they have no evidence to prove it. Each employee should carefully preserve his pay slips and employer statements until he has ascertained that his account is correct, then he may destroy the slips and start saving new ones.

Your social security account is your retirement and family insurance and may be worth thousands of dollars. Mr. Barnett said that although a very small fraction of the accounts are found to be in error, one of these few may be yours. Avoid such a tragedy. Check and double check.

Capacity, 1150 Bushels Ear Corn

12 feet six inches high and 16 feet in diameter

The 10 upright members, 40 lateral members, and 12 wire stretching angles are all 2½x2x3/16 structural steel angle iron. Each joint is reinforced with 1½x1½x3/16 additional angle iron.

The three 4 foot wide wire mesh bands are supported at the top and bottom of each band by hooks spaced every 13 inches in the lateral members. This prevents sagging or bulging of the wire mesh and any loss of the stored corn.

The bands are made of 11 gauge galvanized welded steel wire mesh spaced 2x4 inches.

The roof is made in 20 sections of 26 gauge galvanized steel supported at each joint by 1½x1½x¼ angle iron bolted to the outer frame and to a two foot loading port in center. This port is covered with a one piece 22 gauge galvanized steel cone 36 inches in diameter.

All structural members are assembled with one size bolts (¾x1) thus facilitating erection. The roof sheets are attached to angle iron supports with ¾x¾ inch bolts. All parts not galvanized are painted with a zinc chromate base paint.

Instructions for assembling are included with each crib. Guaranteed quality material and workmanship.

Advice to Advertisers—

A lion met a tiger.
As they drank beside a pool,
Said the tiger, "Tell me why you're roaring like a fool."
"That's not foolish," said the lion.
"With a twinkle in his eyes,"
"They call me king of all the beasts."

Because I advertise.
A rabbit heard them talking
And ran some like a streak;
He thought he'd try the lion's plan.
But his roar was just a squeak.
A fox came to investigate—
Had luncheon in the woods,
So when you advertise, my friends,
Be sure you've got the goods!

After Dinner Speakers—

At a dinner celebrating athletic stars, Helen Wills Moody finally got to her feet at the end of a long program and won everybody's heart by saying, "To be seen one must stand up—to be heard one must speak clearly—but to be appreciated, one must sit down." —Margery Wilson, How to Live Beyond Your Means.

OSCAR HAMMERSTEIN 2nd, New York writer and producer, was introduced at a banquet given in his honor. "I came here hoping to hear a brilliant speech," he flipped. "I was hoping to hear it from my own lips. But I'm afraid I'm going to be disappointed." —Billy Rose.

Don't Boast!

From Mongolian folklore comes this helpful little fable of the boastful frog.

Two geese were about to start southward on their annual autumn migration, when they were entreated by a frog to take him with them. On the geese expressing their willingness to do so if a means of conveyance could be devised, the frog produced a long stalk of grass, got the two geese to take it one by each end, while he clung to it by his mouth in the middle. In this manner the three were making their journey when they were noticed from below by some men.

The men loudly expressed their admiration for the device and wondered who had been clever enough to discover it. Whereupon the vainglorious frog opened his mouth to say "It was I," lost his hold, fell to the earth, and was dashed to pieces.

Bad Impressions—

A business may spread itself over the whole world and may employ a hundred thousand men, but the average person will usually form his judgment of that business through his contact with one individual. Ramona Seefeldt Becomes Bride at Home of Twin Sister

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Grenus, near Monaville was the scene of a pretty wedding last Saturday afternoon when Ramona Seefeldt was married to Mr. Harley Hall, of Round Lake, by Rev. R. E. Harrison, of the Lake Villa Community church in the presence of friends and relatives. The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Seefeldt wore a white satin gown with finger tip veil and carried a bouquet of white carnations and pink roses and the bridesmaid, Verna Burres, of Waukegan, wore a satin gown of aqua blue and carried talisman roses. The groom's attendant was John Leonard, of Round Lake. A wedding supper was served at 4:30 to the immediate families followed in the evening by a reception for 100 guests.

The bridal couple left for a motor trip through the North. The bride's going away gown was of navy blue slipper satin with a mums corsage. The newlyweds have a home at Round Lake Beach, where they will be at home to friends. The groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Hall, of the wedding, as were also Dorothy Readtowns, Wis., were here for Owen, Dwight Van Flett, Mr. Chas. Hall and Mrs. Arne Larsen, all of Readstown, Wis.

Miss Jeanette Slazes was married in a service at St. Peter's church in Antioch last Saturday afternoon to Mr. Elmer Keisler by Rev. Flaherty in the presence of many friends and relatives. The groom was attended by his cousin, Martin Nellis, and ushers were Herman and Leo Keisler, the groom's brothers. Following the ceremony, open house was held at the home of the groom near Twin Lakes, Wis. Because of the recent death of the bride's grandmother, the reception as scheduled was changed. They went to housekeeping at once in their new home at Channel Lake.

M. Y. F. HAD INTERESTING HALLOWEEN PARTY

Two men in a tub caused a big splash at the M. Y. F. Halloween party last Sunday. Bud Cardiff and Bob Wilton feverishly prepared to submerge for apples in a dunking contest. Competition waxed hot, but Bob Wilton dripped out victorious. Another highlight of the evening was the baby bottle drinking contest. George Reardon proved himself to be the best bottle baby in the crowd. Bud Cardiff, the brains behind the Horror Chamber, which started off the evening's hilarity, deserves a lot of credit for dreaming up the weird series of spinnings.

More fun is planned for next Sunday at 3:00 p. m., with indoor recreation. Discussion will be under the direction of Sylvia Beelow and Gail Deitrick will conduct worship service.

Mrs. Tillie Miller returned home from the hospital Tuesday to regain her strength before returning next week for surgery.

Antioch Beats Grant 16-6, Paposes Win; Varsity at Ela Friday

Sequoits Have Chance to End Conference Play in Second Place

When Antioch Township High school beats Grant Township High school in football, it's a successful season and that is just what took place last Saturday when the Sequoits muzzled the Bull Dogs 16 to 6 at Ingleside.

The Paposes added a little salt to Grant's wounds when the underclassmen beat the Puppies by the score of 19 to 6 Monday evening.

The defeat of Grant was decisive. The Sequoits played their best game of the year and the line did an excellent job. There were several fumbles on the part of Antioch and because of this Grant was on the 20 yard line several times, but the line held each time.

Antioch blocked a punt which Gutowski, left guard fell on for a safety in the first few minutes of play. Then in the second quarter on a series of power plays Pete Poulos, fullback went over for a touchdown making the score 9 to 0 for Antioch.

Nine to Six at Half

Late in the quarter Dreyer of Grant went off tackle and cut back for a 60-yard touchdown, bringing the score 9 to 6 at the half.

A 50-yard run by Gene Weiczorek right half back for Antioch to the 20 yard line set the stage for the Sequoits' second touchdown. On two more plays he went across the goal line standing up. Poulos kicked the goal for the extra point and the scoring ended.

Antioch will close its season tomorrow afternoon at Lake Zurich meeting Ela Township High school at 2:30 p. m. Ela has had a successful season considering its recent entrance into conference competition, and must be considered a worthy opponent. Coach Kruzan's warriors have as their incentive the goal of second place in the conference standing.

Paposes End Season
The Freshmen-Sophomores under Coach Polley ended their season Monday in their well earned victory over the Grant underclassmen. It was a season of one victory and two losses for the local team.

Fred Nielson scored the first touchdown for Antioch and George Masopust kicked the goal. Masopust, left half, plunged eight yards for the second touchdown and afterwards tossed a 30-yard pass to Biel in setting the stage for the third score. Mickey Scarnati's end runs completed the job. The good blocking by Charlie Bock, fullback was quite noticeable.

It was only in the final quarter when Coach Polley sent in his reserves that Grant was able to score.

SHORT STORY

A Misunderstanding

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

I'LL NEVER FORGET the spectacle of Joe Abbott and Count Obeld fighting. Thinking of it, I am more apt to shudder than smile. Though it certainly had amusing aspects.

You see, Joe is an American. And he wasn't used to the way they did things in Luandia.

Anyway, when Joe and I stopped off at Cabindas on our world cruise, we were much pleased with the place.

That night we had dinner at the Plaza and it was there that we first saw Kandace. She was sitting alone in a booth, and when she caught Joe staring at her boldly, she nodded and smiled at him.

Instinctively I knew, when I saw the tall dark man come through the door, that Joe was in for trouble. And I was right. The tall dark man strode toward the booth and there was something about him that caused my blood to creep. I stood up, but was by no means quick enough. The stranger had grasped Joe by the coat front, jerked him to his feet and slapped his face.

Joe was hauling back for a haymaker when my arms closed about him.

After a while a messenger came in and handed me a note. I read it and looked sourly at Joe. "Now you've done it. That was Count Obeld and that was his girl you insulted."

"Insulted?" said Joe.

"And he wants to fight a duel with you. He realizes our boat sails first thing in the morning, so in order to accommodate us he'll await our pleasure at dawn. He will do you the honor of permitting you to choose your own weapons."

Joe shook his head and tried to grasp it. "That punk—the dope who smacked my jaw—wants to fight a duel? You mean like they do in Sabatini's books?" "And I can choose my own weapons," Joe went on. He stood up. "Come on."

I followed him, not quite daring to use force in stopping him again, yet ready for an emergency. We went back to the Plaza. The count and his girl were, of course, gone. Joe made inquiries, wrote down an address and beckoned me to follow. A taxi deposited us before a pretentious looking house of white adobe. A servant admitted us and presently Count Obeld appeared.

"You're giving me the honor of choosing my own weapons," said Joe. "I'll take these," and he knotted up his fists and held them under the count's nose.

"Those!" said the amazed count. "Yeah," said Joe, "and on your honor as a gentleman you can't refuse. Also, why wait till dawn?"

WHAT followed was pitiful. We trooped into the back yard. Joe and the count took off their coats and squared off. Grinning, Joe stepped in and delivered a quick one-two on the nobleman's chin. Blood appeared on his mouth. He swung wildly. Joe set him back on his heels. The count came in again and Joe knocked him down. He got up and came back for more.

"Listen, old horse," he said, "you're as dumb about the customs back in America as I am about them over here. Only I didn't have the guts to fight you your own way—and you, well, by gosh, there are damned few Americans can take it the way you have. And right here and now I rise to remark you have my apology, and I'll tell that dame so, too, if you'll tell me where she lives."

Well, the count only caught on to about one-third of what Joe meant and grinned and offered his hand.

Ten minutes later the three of us were sitting around a fire in Kandace's living room, laughing and talking and drinking punch and telling each other that it was too bad there wasn't a perfect understanding about customs of different countries, and agreed that if such were the case every one would be happier.

Gold

Found in South Africa
JOHANNESBURG, South Africa.—A gold-prospecting company announced a strike in the Orange Free State which it said yielded one assay of 529 ounces of gold to the ton of ore.

The strike was called the richest in the South African history.

Monetary gold sells at $35 a fine ounce. If the strike stood up to the assay report, production might be at a rate of more than $12,000 a ton.

The company is the Free State Areas, Ltd., which was formed in 1947. It said the discovery was made on Farm Erdeel, 12 miles southeast of Odendaals-Rust. The company owns the farm.

The stock market responded with frenzied dealings in the two million dollars or more shares of Free State Areas.

The strike was reported more than twice as rich as a find on Farm Geduld in 1946, which set the whole stock exchange rocketing.

Engineers Trying To Get More Miles From Gasoline Fuel

FRENCH LICK, IND.—Engineers still are trying to squeeze more miles out of gasoline.

Right now, they say, the average motorist gets only from 28 to 30 per cent of the potential power out of motor fuel.

Experts attending the summer meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers here say the problem is complicated by the fact the automobile requires better fuel to get going than it does to keep going.

Dual fuel systems already are being used in some vehicles to reduce wasteful feeding of high grade fuel to the engine when it isn't needed. The engineers say these systems have been successful but they are seeking to further simplify the problem.

Last night the engineers heard an assertion that interplanetary travel could become an established fact within the next two decades. Dr. Gerald Wendt, editorial director of Science Illustrated, in making the statement, urged the engineers to become "more space minded."

Dr. Wendt said that already accomplished in the direction of interplanetary travel were development of the gas turbine; jet planes; rocket-assisted planes; rocket missiles and high altitude rockets.

On the verge of accomplishment, he said, were space missiles. Possible in 20 years, he added, is development of the "island in space, or man-made moon." Interplanetary travel would follow, he said.

On today's formal program were several papers on lubrication and round table discussions of the same subject along with idea exchanges on personal airplane engines and problems in metal grinding.

Pitcher's Box

The pitcher's box of American baseball in 1887 was a 6 by 6 feet square in which he could move about, but batsmen could demand a choice of high or low ball. The box area was abolished in 1893 and today consists of a 24 by 6 inches slab on which the pitcher must keep one foot.

The Power that made Buick Famous

If you want to know what's "the newest thing" in automobile engines, look at the Buick engine pictured here, and you'll see the words "valve-in-head."

But it happens that this isn't new with Buick. As a matter of fact, the valve-in-head engine was invented back in 1902—U. S. Patent No. 771095—and immediately, Buick adopted the principle, which became the first in a long string of "Buick firsts."

Not everyone went for the idea—then. In spite of the fact that this engine "breathes" more freely—gets fuel in and exhaust gases out more easily—others hung onto their pet ideas.

Then came the airplane, with its need for maximum power from every drop of fuel—and every maker of internal combustion airplane engines adopted the valve-in-head principle.

And more recently—with the hope that higher-octane fuels will become available—a lot of automotive engine designers are taking a new look at the valve-in-head idea.

But just for the record, we'd like to point out that Buick got there first.

And ever since, Buick has gone steadily ahead, building up a name as "valve-in-headquarters." Buick engineers reshaped pistons to put Fireball wallop in these engines. They stepped up compression ratios as fast as better fuels came along.

So perhaps you'll want to remember, when you hear the term "valve-in-head" that this is the type of power that made Buick famous.

If others want to climb on the bandwagon, we say "more power to them"—and no pun is intended.

But Buick has been doing more with valve-in-head right from the start.

And—we might add—it stands to reason that Buick is not through making this type of engine better and better.

November's Weather Record for Illinois

Forecasting by averaging the weather of the past is the aim of this Weather Record Map. Based on records of the U. S. Weather Bureau, some of which cover periods of 50 years and more, this Weather Record for November shows the average minimum temperatures and average snowfall for a number of states.

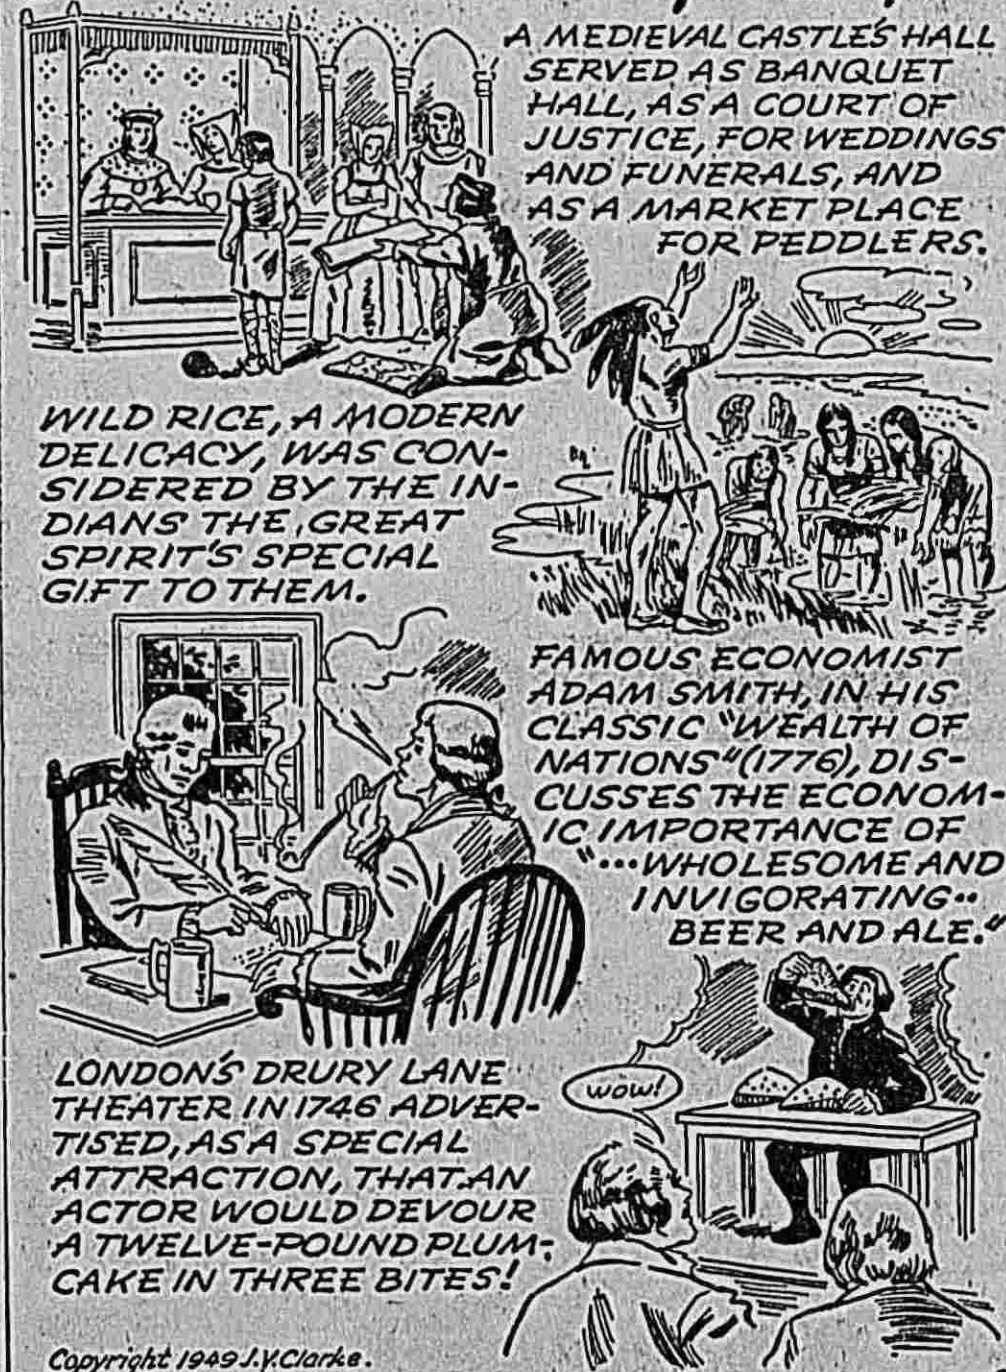

November, as a study of the map shows, brings the sharp bite of freezing weather in many areas. It is the time to look to the furnace, to refurbish winter wardrobes and to put your car in shape for winter months. When temperatures average as low as shown, you can bet your boots that there will be many days below freezing. So November is the time to be super-safe by loading up with antifreeze.

A lovely nuptial ceremony united Miss Beverly Van Alstine and Norman Seitz, of Paddock Lake, was performed by the Rev. R. P. Otoo at 7 o'clock Saturday evening in Peace Lutheran church at Wilmot. The bride's parents, with whom the couple will live after a honeymoon in the East are Mr. and Mrs. Lester Van Alstine of Paddock Lake. The bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Seitz, of Salem, is engaged in farming with the Van Alstine's. Flowers in sea green Autumn gold, the colors of the attendants' ensembles, decorated the altar. Music was provided by Mrs. Raymond Forster, vocalist, accompanied by Miss Darlene Schenning, organist. Satin appliques trimmed the Chantilly lace yoke and front panel of the bride's white satin gown. Chantilly lace edged her fingertip illusion veil and a seed pearl crown held it in place. An orchid centered the cascade bouquet of white pompons that she carried. Lester Van Alstine gave his daughter in marriage. Mrs. Jack Crandall, matron of honor, wore a sea green satin gown with marquisette yoke and shirred bodice. Gaudette and a braided headpiece matched her gown, and she carried a cascade bouquet of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums. Autumn gold was the color of the ensembles worn by Miss Joan Blanchard and Miss Dolly Ries, bridesmaids. Lavendar mums and pompons made up their cascade bouquets. Two junior bridesmaids, Joan Van Alstine and Jane Paasch wearing wood rose colonial gowns and braided headpieces, also attended the bride. They held bouquets of pink flowers. Little Belinda Henke, flower girl, wore a gown of white satin and headpiece braided, she carried a satin basket holding white pompons. Larry Paasch, was ring bearer. Jack Crandall served as best man and Marvin Maleski and Dennis Paasch were ushers. Mr. and Mrs. Seitz received 300 guests at Fox River Gardens after the ceremony.

Baseball Pitching

American baseball pitchers once stood only 45 feet from home plate and only underhand pitching was permitted, according to the Encyclopedia Americana. Today the distance is 60 feet six inches and the pitcher delivers as he pleases, but the tricky "spit," "licorice" and "emery" balls were banned in the 1920's.

50 FRIENDLY YEARS OF SERVICE

SHORT STORY

Great Man

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

3 Minute Fiction

IF PROFESSOR AARON CHESWICK was famous he was not aware of this fact. He was too busy with his experiments in the field of chemistry, with teaching the undergraduates of Mapleridge College the rudiments of elementary science, with writing papers and books in which he set forth (in an almost apologetic style) the results of his experiments, and with reading avidly the works of such great scientists as Mons. Oliver Davillier and Senor Alfredo Valle Indan, both of whom had long ago won his respect and admiration.

He was an unpretentious looking little man, this Professor Cheswick, with pale blue eyes and horn-rimmed glasses and a pasty complexion. He wasn't one to attract attention or to assert himself. He went about with a perpetual far-away look in his eyes.

There came a time when a problem presented itself that challenged his skill and knowledge. He labored over it for days. They days became weeks and the weeks months. At last, worn and haggard, the little man was ready to admit defeat.

Time after time he returned to it, only to find himself defeated. He visited every library within miles, read every book by Davillier and Indan, as well as other great scientists that was available, but without finding the answer.

In the end Professor Cheswick had an idea. It was summer. He needed a vacation. Why not take a month off, visit Europe and perhaps call on Davillier and Indan and ask them personally to clear up the matter that so burdened his mind?

A week later Professor Cheswick sailed for France. The little school teacher was a lonely figure. He struck up a few acquaintances. He wasn't the type to attract people. But he enjoyed the trip. This was something he had never done before.

He was glad when the boat docked. Eagerly he looked ahead to his meeting with Mons. Davillier.

But alas! The next day Professor Cheswick learned that Mons. Davillier had gone to America for his summer holiday and was not expected to return for another month.

The little scientist was depressed and disappointed. His time was short. Madrid, where lived Senor Indan was a long way off. Yet it could be reached, he thought suddenly and excitedly, by plane in a very short while.

HE WAS DELIGHTED to learn that Senor Indan was in Madrid. Yes, it was difficult to obtain an interview with the great man. He was constantly being pressed for interviews. What was it the American wanted to see him about? A problem? Ah, yes, Senor Indan was requested to solve so many problems. It was very, very doubtful if he would grant an interview for such a slight matter. However, if the American would care to take his chances, Senor Indan was to appear at a reception on Tuesday night. Possibly there would be an opportunity to ask his question.

Professor Cheswick attended the reception. He stood in line for hours, a quiet, unassuming, unimportant looking little man, waiting for his chance to speak to the great Senor Indan. It came at last. At last the Mapleridge school teacher and scientist stood before the man he respected more than anyone else in the world.

He was so overcome by awe that for a moment he just stared. Senor Indan frowned impatiently and Professor Cheswick found his voice. He stated his question. The Senor's brows arched in surprise.

"An unusual question, Senor," he said. "Frankly, I cannot answer it. There is only one man in the world with enough knowledge and learning to find the answer. He is one of your own countrymen. My good friend Mons. Davillier is at this moment in America seeking an interview with this wizard whom the whole scientific world respects and admires, yet who is so absorbed in his work that it is difficult to persuade him to appear in public. I refer to Professor Aaron Cheswick of Mapleridge college."

Checking the Chimney

Checking the chimney for leaks is a good safety precaution. Here is the way it's done: build a smudge fire at the bottom of the flue and when the smoke is passing in a dense column, close the outlet at the top with a wet blanket. If there is any leakage, the defect can be found by escaping smoke.

Bostonians Sleep Solo

It is interesting to note that conservative Boston has already begun to switch over to twin beds. In a recent survey 57 per cent of those questioned said they preferred single beds, while only 43 per cent voted for double beds. Bostonians may be conservative, but apparently they can also be very modern when it comes to comfort.

New Canvas for Old

Faded awnings and terrace umbrellas can be renewed with a colorful coating made especially for the purpose.

Removing Painted Wallpaper

To remove several coats of wallpaper which have been painted, before repainting a plastered wall, apply a mixture of trisodium phosphate solution thickened with paperhangers paste. When the mixture has re-acted, the paper can be easily removed with hot water.

Origin of Baseball

Both American baseball and English cricket stem from the ancient English pastime of stoolball, played more than 600 years ago, says the Encyclopedia Americana. Players threw a ball at an upturned three-legged stool, defended by another. Circuit-running and additional "crickets" or "bases" were added and the game, by 1700, was called "base ball" (two words), later "rounders."

Equine Sleeping Sickness

Young horses appear to be more susceptible to equine encephalomyelitis (sleeping sickness) than older ones.

Heat Stroke
In heat stroke, the temperature is very high—107 or over—the skin is hot and dry, the face is flushed, and the patient is unconscious. In heat exhaustion, the temperature may be subnormal or only slightly elevated, and the skin is moist, sometimes cool and clammy. Heat cramps are severe, painful spasms of the muscles. First aid for heat stroke is immediate cold water baths or spray and cold compresses. Bed rest is indicated for the other conditions. Water and salt or salt tablets are given for heat cramps.
